

CHAPTER THREE STUDY AND ANALYSIS

Character Development: snapshot

Character development is defined as the changes a character undergoes over the course of a narrative. Strong character development helps keep stories interesting, realistic, and relatable. Audiences enjoy watching characters grow and overcome their obstacles.

In Lord of the Flies, Golding takes each of his characters through very different journeys. For this exercise write notes on the progression and development of the following three characters. Describe how they have changed physically and psychologically.
